On April 9, 2017 Orlando Serve Foundation's "He Got Up!" outreach was held at Camping World Stadium in Orlando. This is the second annual event of an ongoing public/private collaboration to leverage existing resources to assist families and individuals in need or homeless with a path to self-sustainability.

As with the inaugural event, hundreds of volunteers connected with masses of individuals in need with non-profit and government programs and services through an innovative resource fair.

The Vision for He Got Up! Orlando Serve Foundation exists to affirm and ignite partnerships to restore and strengthen individuals and families in need. The inspiration behind He Got Up! came from Tim Johnson, a former NFL player and currently senior pastor for Orlando World Outreach Center.

Tim grew up in Sarasota, went on to play college football at Penn State, enjoyed a successful career in the NFL, then turned to ministry.

He is the driving force behind He Got Up! Concerned with the growing number of crises and division in communities across the United States, Johnson felt called to create an event that would unite Central Florida by bridging the divide between the haves and have-nots in their community.

He Got Up! for 2017 began with an uplifting service that featured celebrities, inspirational speakers, and talented musical acts.

The event then continued with a separate community services fair designed to connect people in need with a host of resources, as well as an onsite job fair with the goal of helping lift more families out of poverty.

We are in the process of inviting Sarasota-Manatee Community Leaders to this special Meet & Greet with Tim Johnson. We are trusting that this gathering will help us to gauge the level of interest in a possible outreach of this kind for our community.
