“GOLD STANDARD” IN-HOME COVID-19 TEST

PHYSICIANS STAT LAB is a Cornerstone LifeCare Partner and is responsible for the laboratory processing and reporting.

A PCR test for COVID-19 is a test used to diagnose people who are currently infected with SARS-CoV-2, which is the coronavirus that causes COVID-19. The PCR test is the “gold standard” test for diagnosing COVID-19 because it’s the most accurate and reliable test.

Sample collection is done using a swab to collect respiratory material found in your nose. After collection, the swab is sealed in a tube and then sent to our laboratory.

When the laboratory technologist receives the sample, they perform a process called extraction, which isolates genetic material from the sample including genetic material from any virus that may be present. Results typically are available in 24 to 48 hours.
